Well, it 's that time of year again where we all feel a little worse for wear; the exam clouds have been hanging overhead but never fear holidays are in sight. In this issue of GOSPYAN News, we have reports to read, photos to see and news to catch up on! We also have some of our regular features back again. So we hope there is something for everyone in this issue. Read on and catch up with the news !

** Our sincere thanks to our entrant in the Miss Greek Community Quest, Jenny Sclavos, she was a great representative. We would also like to extend our congratulations to both Miss GOYA who won the quest and Miss Ahepa - the runner up.

The keys to the Kingdom of Heaven have been placed by the Messiah Himself, out of respect to one of his greatest disciples, into the hand of a man called Peter, the constant companion and beloved friend of Jesus Christ. This magnificent disciple, whom trust places at the gates of heaven to examine the credentials of those who would enter, had a master key in his life-time which unlocked the hearts of men to admit the Savior, and his wisdom was the key to men's minds which in turn admitted the intelligence to give meaning to the Christian Faith.

Brought to Jesus by his brother Andrew, a fisherman like himself, Peter forthwith acknowledged the Master and undertook a lifetime of casting his fisherman's nets for the sake of Jesus Christ and so excelled himself in his personal and total dedication to the Savior that in the two thousand years that have elapsed any roll call of the disciples finds the name of Peter among the most prominent. He ranks with St. Paul as one without whom the new Faith could not have survived the whips and scorns of the pagan era of superstition and spiritual darkness.

Several accounts are given in the New Testament about St. Peter and his strong bond with the Nazarene, but the stirring passage in Matthew should be etched in the mind of every Christian, that which says "And I say to thee that thou art Peter and upon this rock I will build my Church, and the gates of hell will not prevail against it. I will give thee the keys of the Kingdom of the heavens, and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in the heavens, and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in the heavens."

This divine authority vested in Peter as well as to all of the disciples of Christ, places a sacred trust in Peter, whose name means "rock."

It was upon this rock of Faith as depicted in Holy Scripture that the formation of the Christian Church, the disciples' handiwork, is not only a success but a triumph as well.

Peter, the redoubtable fisherman who had never strayed far from his home in Capernaum on the shores of Galilee, was at the side of Jesus in His ministry throughout the Holy Land and as one of his closest Apostles planned the campaigns for the winning of converts. In the course of this spiritual campaign, he came to witness the many miracles of the Master, such as the walking on water, the miracle of the loaves and fishes and many others which were to lend an aura of divine authority for all of the Apostles in the stewardship of the Church.

Peter, whose presence at Gethsemane had further fueled the fires of Christian zeal in his heart, joined John in Samaria, Lydda, Joppa, and Caesaria in a propagation of the truth of the Messiah, but returning to Jerusalem found that a famine had set in and that the Christian community was somehow being blamed for the economic woes that ravaged the land. With the help of Paula and Barnabas they restored the confidence of the people and led them out of their hapless state to an era of new prosperity.

Ultimately Peter established the first Church in the ancient city of Antioch and became its first Bishop. He was sentenced by Nero to be crucified, a manner of death in which he emulated the Messiah.

Welcome to a bumper issue of GOSPYA News !!!

First of all congratulations to FREDa VELASIKAS on becoming Miss Greek Community. Good luck in the Miss Warana Quest !
Congratulations also to the other five entrants who all looked stunning and presented themselves in a confident and dignified manner. We also congratulate the runner up, MARIANNA ROSSETTI and of course, our own Miss GOSPYA - JENNY SCLAVOS, you looked fantastic and GOSPYA was proud to have you represent us.

Girls and guys the Annual Debutante Ball is fast approaching and plans are already in full swing. Practices shall be starting soon; so if you are interested and wish to find out more details; please contact : either, Yvonne 349 9973

It 's a great experience and one you 'll never forget !

July 13-15 has been set aside for the 4th State Youth Conference to be held by the Brisbane Greek Youth Associations, and a great weekend has been planned, making sure that all delegates not only learn and participate but also have a fantastic time.

The B & S Ball is also coming around again - so set aside Tuesday 14 August for another fantastic night !

We also have some other functions coming up such as the Trivia Night and our Fashion Parade - we 'll keep you posted !

Well, it 's holiday time again for most of us and GOSPYA has planned some great events.

Don 't forget that our Fellowship group has organised a Trivia Night on the 6th of July at the GOSP Centre and it 's sure to be a great night. Come along and test your general knowledge and be in the running for some terrific prizes.

Coming up, we also have our annual Fashion Parade at Mary Street at a date yet to be confirmed. Come along and see some beautiful clothes presented by our own GOSPAN models; to be followed by a disco.

Finally, we 've got the Debutante Ball coming up and so any

Fellowship Report

Well, Fellowship this year started with a big bang, with a few new faces discovering our Friday night meetings (which are held at 7:30 at GOSP Hall every second Friday). These meetings are successful in bringing youth together in an open atmosphere of discussion.

One way in which we plan to bring even more people together is by holding a games night. This is a night on which all people, young, old, married or single can join in and test their trivia knowledge. Don't worry too much if you don't have a PhD in astrophysics or neurophysiology, as the questions will cover a wide range of topics familiar to all.

So, we hope to see you on the 6th of July at 7:30 at the GOSP centre. All you need to do is find 3 or 4 friends to come along to form a team. If you would like to find out more about this night, ring one of:

BASKETBALL

GOSPYA has again started playing Basketball at Auchenflower stadium. After playing the 1st round of the MENS 3 competition the boys are in a difficult position, they must win 75% of the future games to make the semi-finals. To do this it will take a lot of hard work and effort from the team, but it will also take support.

This has to late been very weak, and while other teams have only improved the crowds at their games, GOSPYA has reduced in the number of supporters. Below is a draw of the next few games at Auchenflower. Come along before the Taverna Night, and see an exciting game of basketball.

SUNDAY	24/6/90	8:20 PM.
	1/7/90	5:00 PM.
	8/7/90	7:30 PM.
	15/7/90	6:40 PM.

Don't forget GOSPYA also play basketball on Tuesday nights, at Mansfield.

NETBALL

The season of netball has been completed at the cricket wicket at Mansfield, held on Monday nights. The girls played a great season going to the semi-finals not losing a game. However, they were knocked out in a closely contested semi-final.

The next season is nearly here, and the girls are playing a new competition at Underwood. If any girls are interested in playing, would they please contact either Jenny Sclavos 343 1948 or Peter Delibaltas 345 7425, for details.

SOCCER

It's World Cup time, and soccer fever is in the air. GOSPY'S soccer team doesn't have the best position on the table, they still have been working at very hard to obtain it. Anyone interested in going along to see the boys play, please see a member of GOSPYA committee.

TOUCH FOOTBALL

GOSPYA is, as you all know, entering a touch football competition held annually by GOYA. We have a few interested players, but if you wish to play, the last chance to play is here. Please contact Peter Delibaltas 345 7425 or Jenny Sclavos 343 1948 to find out details.

GOSPYA TREK

THE VOYAGE CONTINUES.

Our last episode left us with Afroula in charge on the bridge, and a very worried-looking Peter Delibaltas at the controls of the transporter, looking at various pieces of food, namely a sardella, a paximadi, a meli dzana, a piece of baklava and a bowl of rizogalo. What was Peter going to do !? The personnel beaming up and down were his responsibility, and he was sure that his superiors would not look kindly on this substitution of vital crew for a bunch of mezethes.

The inevitable voice came over the intercom. "Mr. Delibaltas, what 's going on down there ?" The voice was Acting Commander Afroula 's, and it wanted an answer straight away.

Peter stumbled and grasped to find words to explain what happened. "Down... Back... Not there... Food..."

"You mean, that the people have come back as pieces of food? Why didn't you say so in the first place ?"

Afroula knew exactly what to do. This sort of thing was easy to remedy.

"What has happened is that the infra-hyoplychronic differentiating circumfrential register has shorted the posterior contacts of the anatomic restructuring potentiator next to the roach retainer. The molecularsnapoglizmo aspirator has probably also been jammed into the ultrasonic patatosalata. All you have to do is bypass the potentiator, and intiate a controlled cross-matched synchronic realignment of the dual in-line positronic quasomunchers and start up the subatomucic koulouromatic twin chrome pastitsiobangers."

"Huh ?", replied Peter.

"Press the blue button", instructed Acting Commander Afroula.

"OK."

Mr. Delibaltas pressed the button. It must have been the right one, because it made a funny sound. Just as he looked up to see if it was working, Officier Samios' face appeared on the large monitor screen. Mr. Delibaltas confusingly blurted, "Why aren 't you with the rest of the crew. Their all coming back."

Officer Samios replied calmly, "I 've decided to remain in space and take some R 'n' R. I 'm leaving the starship to become an astronaut. One day I may decide to return." At that moment, the screen flickered, turned blank, and Andrew was gone.

It was too late to do anything now. When the objects rematerialized, Officer Samios was not with the rest of the crew, even though the others were all there safe and sound. The only remains of Andrew was a small pink and blue bowl sitting in the middle of the group.

Just as the crew had reappeared, the ship 's cat, Hioni and dog, Hali, ran onto the transporter deck, and started licking the bowl which had a few remaining specs of the rizogalo.

This was the last straw for Mr. Delibaltas. That cat and dog had always been a troublesome pair. He knew he had to get rid of them. The only way was to trick them into eating something harmful.

Peter reached into the cupboard and pulled out the ship 's goldfish, "Bream". Hioni the cat and Hali the dog ran towards it. Peter knew that the greed of the dog and cat would make them want to gobble up the Bream, despite its colossal size. Just as he thought, the animals tried to eat it, but both choked on the fish. After rescuing Bream the enormous goldfish, Peter transported the dog and cat 's bodies into orbit around the planet Hotgossipus.

What was left of the landing party assembled back in the control room.

"What happened ?", asked Officer Afroula.

Captain Cayas replied, "Hotgossipus is a mess. As soon as we transported down, we were hit by an extremely loud noise. There was no way we could have survived it for more than a few seconds. I don 't think it is safe for us to go back there on Friday nights any more. Besides, it was starting to get monotonous anyhow."

"So where are we going to go for recreation now ?", asked Officer Kallos

"How about the GOSP planet ? Fellowship is on tonight..."

"Plot a course for GOSP, Officer Kallos. Warp speed two."

"Course plotted."

"Execute."

What will happen when the crew reaches the Fellowship meeting ? Indeed, will anything happen on the way ? Who will replace Officer Samios in Engineering ? Who will the author pick on next ? And will Lieutenant Leah finally stop feeding the Bream too much !? To answer these and many other questions, stay tuned to GOSPYAN News.

Stauros Kazoullis.

A BRIEF HISTORY

A steering committee was established in 1981 to help foster greater interaction between the various youth groups of Brisbane and Qld. It was decided that a State Youth Conference be held, and under the guidance of Paula Masselos, who was then the Social Worker in the Greek Community of Brisbane, the first Youth Conference was held. Out of the first conference came the Youth Council as it is today. At present, there are seven youth groups from Brisbane represented on the Council, as well as affiliations with country youth groups, representing the majority of Greek Youth in Australia.

The Council's main aim is to create an awareness and understanding in our communities and to help bind the youth groups into a united body of associations for the benefit of the community and future generations of Greek Australians. Delegates should feel free to approach the Council with regards to any matter or problem they wish to discuss, dealing with their own situation or more widespread topics. This conference will be recorded, and any recommendations passed will be put forward at the next National Conference in 1991. This conference is open to all interested youth 15 and over.

HOW THE WAR WITH TROY BEGAN.

The most beautiful woman in the world was Helen, and when Paris came to Sparta she was the wife of Menelaus for three years. Menelaus welcomed Paris into his home, but while he was a guest he won the love of Helen; and when he left Sparta for Troy, she went with him.

Menelaus appealed to his brother, Agamemnon, and the king at once sent word to Helen's former suitors requesting them to keep their oath of allegiance. And they, with the other kings and lords of Greece, gathered together a great army and a fleet of ships so they could sail to Troy, and win back Helen for Menelaus as well as taking revenge on Paris, who has broken the sacred laws of hospitality by stealing the wife of his host.

Patroclus, one of Helen's suitors, was amongst those who were called to war, and Peleus was willing that Achilles, though very young, should go with him and lead the Myrmidons, the men of Phthia, to battle, since Peleus himself was too old to fight.

But Thetis, Achilles' mother, knew that her son was doomed to either a long, uneventful life or a short life full of glory, and everlasting fame; and in an attempt to keep these choices from him, she clothed <sup>him</sup> as a girl and sent him secretly to King Lycomedes on the island of Scyros, bidding him to hide her son amongst his daughters. Achilles remained hidden there for a time, when one of the daughters, Deidameia fell in love with him and they had a son, Neoptolemus.

But the Greeks still needed the support of the brave warriors the Myrmidons , and so, Odysseus went all about Greece looking for Achilles. Disguised as a merchant he finally came to Lycomedes' house, suspecting Achilles to be there. He asked to show his merchandise to the King 's daughters and this was granted . He showed them jewels, embroidered robes and other trinkets as they crowded about him in delight. He looked closely at them, but as yet could not guess amongst them which one could be Achilles. But amid the trinkets he had hidden a sword.

After a while, he made a gesture to one of his followers, who went outside the house and there blew a war blast on a horn. The maidens fled screaming, sobbing and trembling in fear. However, one tall maiden with golden hair, and the most beautiful of all leaped forward and snatched up the sword swiftly, and handled it as a sword should be handled, waiting for the approach of danger. Odysseus smiled and Achilles by name, and the maiden did not deny their identity, for he wanted to go to war with Patroclus in Troy.

Achilles then returned to Phthia, and his father was glad to see him again but Thetis grieved for she knew she could no longer keep this choice of doom from her son. She could now only tell him what was destined for him, and he unhesitatingly chose a short life with everlasting glory. She warned him that he would never return from Troy and Achilles accepted this destiny. And so the Myrmidons, led by Achilles and Patroclus set sail for Troy with the other warriors of Greece, all under the leadership of King Agamemnon.

The great army of the Greeks encamped upon the shores of Troy, to besiege King Priam 's city. Both the Greek and Trojan armies were mighty, and for a long time there was some fighting on the plains before the city; and sometimes the Greeks were successful and sometimes the Trojans, but as yet there was no decisive victory. Every now and then, the Greeks would send a fleet along the coast of Troy to sack a neighbouring town for so great an army needed much food and also to discourage any further allies from sending help to the Trojans.

And so this fighting continued with Troy until the war was in its ninth year.
